Photography by George Byrne
from Los Angeles, United States

George Byrne creates large-scale images that depict everyday surfaces and landscapes as painterly abstractions. Byrne's keen interest in the abstract painting paired with a sharp compositional eye results in photography and photo-collage that provides a fresh, contemporary perspective of the American landscape. Borrowing from the clean, vivid clarity of modernist painting, he also references the New Topographics photography movement, and the Dusseldorf School of Photography via a subject matter firmly entrenched in the urban everyday.
